

Movies for the Planetarium

"Frieda and the Forest", fulldome short film by Ralph Heinsohn | Photo courtesy: V. Schorcht

The dome of a modern planetarium also offers itself as a movie screen. However, it is not cinema movies that are shown here, but films that do justice to the 360-degree medium. Among other things, they document the latest discoveries in space, such as exoplanets, gravitational waves and Black Holes. Other films tell stories for children or bring historical events to life. There are hardly any limits to the variety.

